

Words That Change

STORYTELLING FOR BUSINESS WORKSHOP September 20th 2012, 10:00 am - 6:00 pm

In all your business communications and conversations you need to be telling a story that tells people exactly what you do.

This day-long workshop taps into what motivates you about your business, finds out what your audience wants to hear and helps you create a powerful, inspiring story either for use in your business communications or your personal and professional development.

You'll also get practice in live storytelling, ideal for fuelling the vital conversations that will make your business grow.
